What Brethren Believe

Course Description

What do Brethren believe? How do these beliefs translate into practice? This course will answer these questions and others by exploring Brethren beliefs related to a variety of issues, including Scripture, the person of Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, the nature of the church, original sin, and the end times. We will discuss how these beliefs shape our understanding of Brethren ordinances, such as baptism, Love Feast, anointing, nonresistance, and nonconformity. Particular attention will be paid to the Pietist and Anabaptist origins of Brethren beliefs. The course will also examine how these beliefs and practices have changed over time and consider the diversity of beliefs found among Brethren today.

Course Goals

- Students will consider Brethren ways of constructing theology.
- Students will read about unique Brethren beliefs and practices as well as consider how Brethren have interpreted beliefs and practices shared with other Christian traditions. Students will learn to identify the works and contributions of significant Brethren writers on these topics.
- Students will become aware of the range of habits and beliefs in the Brethren tradition as well as the diversity of their interpretation and use in the Church of the Brethren today.
- Students will reflect theologically on at least one belief or practice found within the Brethren tradition.

Instructor

Denise Kettering-Lane

Denise Kettering-Lane is Associate Professor of Brethren Studies at Bethany Theological Seminary. After earning an undergraduate degree in Religion from Ashland University, Denise earned an MTS from Candler School of Theology at Emory University and a PhD from The University of Iowa. She has formerly served as the archival assistant at the Brethren Historical Library and Archives in Elgin, Illinois. She is particularly interested in women's history, Pietism, and Christian devotional practices. She is the editor of the journal Brethren Life and Thought. Denise lives in Dayton, Ohio with her husband Calvin, and her children, Daniel and Elizabeth.
